

High Tech Innovation

High-Tech Innovation comprehensively delineates the process of a technology start-up and innovation. First, the technologies within the biotech and nanotech industries are detailed in text and pictorial forms for easy comprehension. The book goes on describing the strategies for choosing a technology for product innovation. Practical and theoretical product, technological, business, and marketing innovations are outlined in chapter 3. Then, management skills to handle innovation is described in chapter 4. The compilation of specific facts, data, and technological concepts makes this book a valuable guide.
