I was determined to make this work both for me and my team! So, one day I found myself browsing in a social network called Facebook and I decided to try and market my opportunity on it. I started messaging people, sharing my link for some time, but sadly NO ONE JOINED. But suddenly one day I came across this simple but yet profound strategy, which I started applying right away!! And BOOM!!! In a very short period of time I got a lot of people, that I never knew before, wanting to join my business.. and the best of all...without even asking them!! I generated great results in no time with minimum effort. When that happened I was blown away Because I've never actually have done ANY online marketing at all. It was something really simple but yet profoundly efficient!! I really wanted duplication, something simple that everybody could do easily without pitching and struggling and yet produce efficient results! I wanted something big, something that could deliver massive results for my business and my team, but didn't take ALL day long to do.
