

The Flying Prince

A lyrical play of enchantment and high adventure. Based on stories told by Vikramaditya of Ujjain, a Hero of India. Simple set pieces. Regal and peasant costumes of ancient India. Cast of 8 men, 6 women, extras. In the golden age of India, a Princess is kidnapped by a bandit as she journeys to marry her Prince. To rescue her, the Prince petitions the gods to allow him to become a bird, and his wish is granted. Leaving his own body, he soars over mountains, saves the Princess, and carries her to his Golden Palace. However, in his absence, a crafty servant takes possession of the royal body and acts as the Prince. How the real Prince outwits both this wicked servant and the evil bandit, provides the dramatic climax. A helpful Property Man, Oriental song and dance offer imaginative and theatrical solutions to staging. A colorful adventure in an exotic land.
