

Yesterday I Played In The Rain (A Childrens Picture Book)

Get your gumboots out and join this loveable family of Ducks for a quacking good time in this delightful childrens picture book. Have you ever played in the rain? Have you ever felt the rain trickle down your face? One very cute family of ducks discovers that playing in the rain can be fun for all ages...if you're not afraid of getting wet, that is. Yesterday I Played in the Rain is ideal for parents and teachers looking for preschool books for 2-4 years. The book is used in many Australian schools for preschool prep and kindergarten. BONUS: Free activities available at RobinAdolphs.com

AUTHOR INTERVIEW: Robin Adolphs

This is a lovely childrens picture book, how did you come up with the idea for the story? When I was Deputy Principal at my school, a young girl ran up to me and excitedly asked, Mrs A. guess what I did at the weekend? What did you do? I asked. Yesterday I played in the rain. It was the best thing I have ever done, she said. It was one of those moments! She loved it so much I knew one day I would write about playing in the rain. Its one of those simple but wonderful things to do. Why do you think Yesterday I Played in the Rain is a popular choice among preschool books for 2-4 years? The illustrations by Heather Dale are very cute and in my experience, young children find ducks very endearing. The theme is about a family having fun together playing in the rain. Children love the idea of this. The text is simple and repetitive which makes it a great book for beginning readers. Its an easy book to dramatize and children love to see their parents acting like ducks. Parents love it too. Do you think you'll write another illustrated childrens story about ducks? I haven't planned to but I've drafted out another book along the lines of Yesterday I Played In the Rain. It has to do with pigs and mud. Guess what that one will be called?
